

The Expert's Advantage: How Leaders Can Improve Their People's Performance in 5 Steps

Introduction of Dr. Paul Schempp

[PLEASE READ SLOWLY]

Your success as a leader is largely dependent on your ability to continually improve performance—yours, your direct reports, and the entire organization. But how do you identify and master the essential skills that increase personal and professional success?

What do you need to know to continually outperform your competitors—and where to you learn it?

And what experiences are critical to developing the expertise necessary to reach and remain at the pinnacle of your industry?

What 5 Steps take someone from Novice to Expert?

Those questions will be answered today. Our speaker is an Expert on Developing Expertise. As a University of Georgia research professor, he studies expert leaders from all walks of life. As a consultant, he helps organizations turn people with potential into top performers.

Here to speak on The Expert's Advantage: How Leaders Can Improve Their People's Performance in 5 Steps

is

Dr. Paul Schempp