

The Great Coaches' Playbook: Building and Leading High Performing Teams (in Any Business)

Introduction of Dr. Paul Schempp

[PLEASE READ SLOWLY]

Your success as business leader is largely dependent on your ability to build and lead high performing teams. What skills do you need to assemble the right people, charge them with a meaningful mission, and lead them to success? How do you envision and strategize for success? And then how do you execute to consistently achieve outstanding results?

Those questions will be answered today.

Our speaker is an expert on high-performance leadership.

As a University of Georgia research professor, he has studied characteristics and qualities of elite sport coaches and top performing business leaders.

As a consultant, he has helped innovative organizations turn people with potential into outstanding performers.

As a speaker, he has delivered over 300 programs in 32 countries on 4 continents.

Here to speak on The Great Coaches' Playbook: Building and Leading High Performing Teams (in Any Business)

is

Dr. Paul Schempp